

RMU
Research Methods Unit
RMU

Informed Consent

Course description: Old man winter is finally leaving!! That means that driving will be so much fun with potholes and endless road construction. Getting informed consent can be just as tricky. What are the “potholes and roadblocks” we face every day when trying to get informed consent? How can we ethically and legally avoid these and deliver a truly informed consent? Join me on May 14 as we have an interactive discussion of this dynamic topic.

Facilitator: Blaine Gallant, RN
Research Coordinator, Hematology Research

Offered by: Nova Scotia Health Authority

Time, Date and Location:

Noon – 1 p.m., Thursday, May 14, 2015

Royal Bank Theatre, Halifax, Infirmary

1796 Summer Street

Halifax, NS B3H 3A7

Preparation: none

Audience: investigators and research team members

Prerequisites: none

Registration: required

Contact: michelle.roden@nshealth.ca

Fee: none