Capital Health

Our Mission

Our desire is to become, as a society, a world-leading haven for health, healing and learning. During our Quest, members of the broader Capital Health community welcomed this mission as compelling and, ultimately, required to provide the care and conditions we desire.

World-leading. We are committed to discovering and enacting leading-edge, evidence-based practices in care, research, education and advocacy.

Haven. We are committed to helping to create and sustain a safe and enriching environment for well-being.

Health. We are committed to supporting an approach that moves beyond mere absence of illness and disease to one that acknowledges optimal well-being as the sum of our physical, emotional, mental and spiritual states.

Healing. We are committed to supporting the natural restorative capabilities of the human body.

Learning. We are committed to seeing ourselves as a community of learners with those we serve and those who serve us. We are all members of learning networks designed to realize our individual and collective health.

This mission is born of the deep commitment of those who have chosen to make Capital Health their place of employment, training and volunteerism. It is a commitment to make a difference in the lives of those they care for and of their families. What it looks like will evolve over the next several years. Such is the dynamic nature of the world we create.
