

Save the Date!

Trans Clinical Training

Community based approach to navigating treatment protocols, assessments and standards of care for transgender patients

April 23 and 24, 2014
QEII Health Sciences Centre
Hugh Bell Theatre

Please join Primary Health Care, Capital Health, along with Primary Health, IWK Health Centre, in partnership with the Institute for Sexual Minority Health for a two day CME (pending) training session focused on navigating treatment protocols, assessments and standards of care for transgender patients.

This training session will increase participants' clinical knowledge and skill to provide specific care, treatment protocols, readiness assessments, initiation of therapy and referrals for those in the transgender community seeking endocrine therapy and surgical treatments.

This session is most relevant to physicians, nurse practitioners, psychologists, psychiatrists, clinical social workers and other mental health providers who are eligible to assess for hormone readiness or have the capacity to prescribe hormones.

For more information please contact prideHealth, Capital Health at (902)473-1433 or pridehealth@cdha.nshealth.ca

prideHealth

R A I S I N G T H E F L A G

